

Product Liability

Burr & Forman represents clients who design, manufacture, construct, and/or sell a product or service thought to be safe, but is later alleged to be defective and resulting in injury or death. If your company is faced with damage claims alleging injury from design or manufacturing defects, failure to warn, product misuse and hazardous exposure, look to us to develop the best defense on scientific, technical and legal grounds. Many of these cases involve complex discovery and crucial expert witnesses that our attorneys have experience in handling. Our team understands the complex business and legal issues presented by these cases, and will defend you against appeals by plaintiffs' lawyers, and their reliance on emotion and bad science.

Some of the types of cases our attorneys handle include:

- Aviation accidents
- Automobile/trucking accidents
- Construction/workplace accidents
- Equipment, power tools & other consumer products
- Forest products (Pulp, Paper, & Timber)
- Pharmaceutical/medical devices
- Product recalls
- Warranty claims
